HEPBURN NOW OPTIMISTIC ON HIS BOND SALE

Applications For Over-the-Counter Deal Running Into Millions

Toronto, June 17.—Declaring "Everything is going splendidly and we are entirely satisfied," Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn today said applications for purchases of Ontario's $20,000,000 bond issue was running into millions.

Over-the-counter sale of bonds started today following the premier's announcement last week the bonds would be marketed by the savings offices. His action came after no tenders were received for a $15,000,000 loan.

The system of savings offices is being enlarged as rapidly as possible," Mr. Hepburn said. A Guelph branch will be opened immediately.

Applicants for purchase of the bonds have told the government, Mr. Hepburn said, they were applying for certain quantities but if the government required more money they would come back for a second lot.

Meanwhile, he continued, letters of congratulations "endorsing our stand of financial independence," have been pouring into his office. Many people, he added, indicated their intention of transferring their funds to treasury offices.

While the government declined to disclose names of large purchasers of the bonds, Mr. Hepburn said he understood one concern had purchased $2,000,000 worth of the issue.

Travelling Health Clinic

The Travelling Clinic left Edmonton May 20th

Included in its itinerary are Cessford June 17 and 18th, Youngstown 20 and 21st, Oyen 24 and 25th and New Bridgen 27 and 28th.

SPORTS DAY BIG SUCCESS

The Chinook Annual Sports Day held June 12th was a decided success. A reasonably large crowd favored by fair weather, watched the various events.

In the baseball Youngstown and the Sheebo's engaged in a five inning game. The highlight of the game was that Youngstown apparently had it won 4-0 when the Sheebo's stepped out and made 7 runs in one inning but Youngstown came from under to win. Both of these teams are promising teams and the game was interesting to watch. Consort then played Oyen but proved to strong for them. Errors and passed balls accounted for several of Consort's runs. Although Brown of Oyen pitched a good game, he didn't get the support he was entitled to.

The Chinook—Consort game was also very uneven and uneventful.

Both Chinook and Oyen with several young players show a lack of practice or at least the experience that the Consort team has.

In the final game, Youngstown lost their opportunity when they failed to rally the tying run. Youngstown has picked up several outside players this year and has a fairly strong team although lacking seasoned pitchers.

In the ladies softball Youngstown won from Oyen, and in the final game, Chinook won from Youngstown.

In the Men's softball, Keystone took first place and Excel second.

Mr. and Mrs. Creighton and family, Evangelists who have been holding services at Chinook since last fall left on Wednesday for Veteran.

A number from Chinook motored to Youngstown Wednesday evening where they attended the Social Credit Rally.

The Ladies Card Club met Tuesday evening at the Garage with Mrs. Chapman as hostess. Honors went to Joan Bayley and Julia Peyton. The club will meet next week at the Garage with Mrs. L. Cooley as hostess.

Collholme School Picnic will be held June 28th. Ladies please bring lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kirby and daughter, Pat visited with Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Young over the week-end.

Miss Marjorie Tompkins who has been attending Normal School at Camrose, returned last week to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Tompkins.

Chinook district so far has been getting rains every week, which makes prospects encouraging to the farmer.

Geo. Marcy who underwent an operation in the Cereal hospital returned to his home last week and is recovering rapidly.

Vacation Days

That happy period in childhood, the mid-summer school holidays, is near at hand. With shouts of joy, laughter, and on running feet the boys and girls of Canada will announce to all the world "School's out," and they will toss their books aside to be forgotten for a couple of months.

In these later days much is heard of shorter working hours, more leisure for the workers of the world, and all kinds of proposals are advanced as to how those leisure hours may be spent in order that they may prove a blessing rather than a drawback in the development of a better type of citizen; in order that they may add to the pleasure and true enjoyment of life rather than tend towards pure idleness and even shiftlessness.

Now, with two months of absence from school for their children, what are Canadian parents planning for these energetic boys and girls, to keep them out of mischief and to make this vacation time freed from study wholly beneficial and an asset which will prove of value in better health, clearer minds, and a most wholesome outlook on life—in a word, prepare these citizens of the future to return to the school rooms some weeks hence keen for another period of study and preparation for life?

Older boys and girls are already home from college, annual church conferences and assemblies have been held, nurses' graduation from hospitals are completed, examinations of all kinds are nearing an end, teachers, too, will be free of their duties, spring work on the farm is past, and in town and city the quiet time in business is at hand. Thus the older generation is able to devote more time and more thought to making these happy days of childhood a real joy and blessing not only to the children but to themselves.

And so the question arises, and ought to be faced, what can we do individually and collectively to make the summer vacation of 1935 a never-to-be-forgotten period in the lives and memories of Canada's boys and girls—your own boys and girls? It is a responsibility to be discharged, just as it is a pleasure to be derived by those who discharge the responsibility. And this combined responsibility and pleasure for parents, and unalloyed pleasure for children, should not be neglected this year especially, following, as it does, so many years of economic depression and, for many in this western country, disastrous crop failures and business reverses.

Fortunately, it does not cost much in money to give children a good time, a happy holiday. Fortunately, again, Canada is blessed by Nature with almost innumerable beauty spots for holiday purposes. There is not a province in Canada which does not abound in lakes, large and small; summer resorts and camping grounds are numerous, places to camp and picnic are to be found in easily accessible places. Full advantage should be taken of these to provide outings for the boys and girls, even though individual circumstances may make such outings of brief duration.

In summer time especially Canada is a land for out-of-doors. Get the boys and girls out into the open, and keep them there as much as possible. They are in school rooms and shut up in houses in the winter time for long months of the year; they need the health-giving properties of the sun throughout the summer holiday season, the clean, invigorating fresh air, the delights of forest and lake. Get them as close as possible to Nature in her happiest moods and most beautiful places.

And make these vacation days of lasting benefit to other years. See that the boys and girls are taught to swim. It is little less than a crime that so many Canadian boys and girls never learn to swim, and so many tragedies result which are so easily preventable. The art of swimming should be a part of every child's education. It is not only one of the best forms of exercise, making for the development of muscle; it is not only a source of great pleasure; but it is a preparation for emergencies that may arise in their own lives or in the lives of others.

Unconsciously, too, the work of the school room can be carried forward. Powers of observation can be developed and strengthened during vacation days spent in the open; habits of cleanliness, neatness, orderliness, can be made a part of camp and holiday life, and accepted as part of the fun, which will stand children in good stead in future years; initiative, ideas in handicrafts, resort to simple invention to meet the lack of usual equipment at home—all these things mean a greater all-round development of character.

An elaborately organized holiday is not necessary, neither should much expense be entailed. Get out with the children and rough it for a while. They will enjoy it just as much, perhaps more, than an expensive trip or outing where everything is planned and arranged for them. To a large extent, the boys and girls should do a full share of the camp or holiday work. Properly organized and time systematically divided between these duties and the hours of play, boys and girls will enjoy and benefit from doing the camp chores.

Forget the motor car occasionally, and spend a day on a hike. Older lands know the delights and benefits of a walking tour, or a day's hike, which Canadians have not learned to appreciate. Try one this year with your older boys and girls.

Think up other things and ways in which this holiday season can be made happy, healthful and useful. Vacation days present an opportunity to get closer to your children than is possible in the busier days of the year. It is an opportunity for you to study them; ascertain their weaknesses, or strength; gain their confidence in larger measure; learn of their ambitions, and as a result be in a better position to mold their characters along right lines, and check tenacious and habits, hitherto un-noted by you, which would prove a handicap to them, and a possible source of future worry and sorrow to yourself as well as to them.

Problem For Astronomers

Mars, where weather extremes are almost an hourly matter and life-giving oxygen is virtually non-existent, has presented a new problem to the astronomers of this world by producing what seems to be snow out of season.

Pupils in the middle grade of schools in China have been ordered to take military training.

The wife of a small farmer sold her surplus butter to a grocer in a nearby town. On one occasion the grocer said: "Your butter was underweight last week."

"Now, fancy that," said Mrs. Farmer. "Baby mislaid my weight that day, so I just used the pound of sugar you sold me."

Nearly every military term is French.

Lloyd's Insure Vimy Pilgrimage

Stress Necessity Of Making Early Bookings

The Canadian Legion announced to-day that Lloyd's of London, England, have insured the Vimy Pilgrimage, to be held in July of next year, against abandonment in the event of war, financial panic or other untoward events.

Bookings are pouring into the steamship companies. Hope is expressed by Legion officials that ex-service men realize the necessity of registering early in order to be certain of accommodation.

"It is difficult to impress a veteran with the idea of making a ten dollar deposit now when he knows he can pay the full hundred and sixty dollars when the time comes," said Captain Ben Allen, Dominion organizer, to the press to-day. "Early bookings are necessary, however, so that we can get enough ships to take care of the thousands who intend going."

"And Pilgrims only are going to be allowed to sail in this Peace Armada. Also we must arrange early for billeting accommodation and rail and motor transportation in France. The naval, military and civil authorities in France, Belgium and England are extending us every co-operation. It looks like Canada's year in Europe next year."

Held Up By Robin

Nesting Bird Delays Altering Of Huge C.N.R. Sign

Plans to alter a huge electric sign fronting the Canadian National station in Winnipeg were thwarted out of consideration for a mother robin whose nest is attached to the letter "C."

Wordings of a new sign designed to replace the old had been carefully worked out. Electricians were summoned and all was in readiness to dash out the attractions of summer excursions. Then office workers who had seen the bird sitting on her four eggs reported to officials, and it was decided, excursions or no excursions, Mrs. Robin must not be disturbed. Meantime efforts were being made to work out a sign which would leave the "r" in its present position.

Latest Life-Saving Net

Device For Use At Sea Was Successfully Tested

An ingenious life-saving net which experts state will minimize peril of the sea has been demonstrated at Cardiff.

The invention is a raft consisting of tubular cork bags made into a net lashed with rope. It is produced by a Cardiff ship-repairing firm.

It can be unrolled down a ship's side to serve as a ladder, or floated alongside foundering or burning vessels in conditions which would make the launching of an ordinary lifeboat impossible.

Orders have been received from liner and "tramp" firms. The device is expected to form the basis of a new industry.

Canadian Bronco Buster Reported To Have Wed Daughter Of Tom Mix

Ruth Mix, daughter of Tom Mix, and Harry Knight, champion Canadian bronco buster, eloped to Reno, Nev., where they were married, said a telegram from Knight received at Hollywood by Tex Austin, promoter of cowboys contests.

"We tied the knot to-day," read the message.

Miss Mix, whose father is famous for cowboy roles on the screen, formerly was married to Douglas Gilmore, an actor. Their marriage was annulled at Middleton, N.Y., in July, 1932.

Knight's home is at Banff, Alta.

New Story For Ripley

Here's one for Ripley, "Believe It Or Not," but it's a fact anyway. A. W. Youngblood, of Oxford County, Ont., found a large potato with others in his cellar that had started to sprout. Nothing unusual in that, but the sprout had turned around and gone into the potato again near the surface, coming out at the other end, extending for about two inches.

A Full-Time Job

What are the functions of a lieutenant-governor? asks a constitutional writer. In Manitoba, says the Winnipeg Tribune, the duties start daily, Sundays included, somewhere around 8 a.m., and last frequently until the clock turns to a.m. of the following day. Not more than a thousand organizations of one kind and another have their eye on the governor as a prospective guest at one or more events.

Butterfly Hunter

Man To Travel 4,000 Miles To Pursue Life-Long Hobby

At the age of 73 Walter Dannatt, a retired business man of London, will leave shortly to travel a thousand miles up the Amazon in pursuit of his lifelong hobby of butterfly collecting.

Mr. Dannatt has a remarkable collection of butterflies and moths, numbering more than 18,000, and he hopes to add to it considerably as the result of his new venture.

"I keep it by cycling," Mr. Dannatt added. "I have had the same machine for 30 years, and have traveled more than 150,000 miles on it. One week-end I covered more than a hundred miles."

"Before I bought my present machine I had the first safety bicycle in the country."

On the subject of his hobby, Mr. Dannatt said: "Some of my specimens come from as far as the Solomon Islands. The collector who secured them was repeatedly driven off by cannibals in attempting to land. He at last succeeded by brandishing a revolver."

Boosting Bay Route

First Vessel To Be Chartered For 1935 Season Is The Ashworth Of The Dalgleish Line

Announcing the Ashworth of the Dalgleish line is the first vessel to be chartered for the 1935 season, Brig- the On-to-the-Bay Association, at the On-to-the-Bay Association, at Winnipeg, forecast a record year for grain exports over the Hudson Bay route.

More ships would visit Churchill, Manitoba's northern seaport, this season than any season previously, General Patterson said. Judging from the numerous inquiries received from persons in different countries, General Patterson said many tourists would visit the port this year.

The Ashworth will leave England in time for the official opening of the Hudson straits and is expected to dock at Churchill shortly after the opening date, August 10. The Ashworth will bring cargo to Churchill from Newcastle, Antwerp and Liverpool.

Vitamin Exhibit

Science Produces Crystals Which Have Strong Potency

A new vitamin pain killer, pure vitamin "B" made into crystals which give wholesale relief from neuritis, was announced to the joint convention of the Canadian and American Medical Association at Atlantic City.

These crystals are a recent new product of science and so potent that one the size of a pinhead is equal to 100 cakes of yeast in vitamin "B" effect.

A pinhead or less, per day is the dose of this pure vitamin which cured or relieved 90 per cent. out of 100 cases of neuritis, the first human beings to receive this new vitamin treatment.

The same tiny dose of pure vitamin also improved some cases of human diabetes.

The vitamin exhibit was made by M. G. Vorhaus, M.D., who did the medical work; R. R. Williams of Columbia University, who produced the pure crystalline vitamin; and R. E. Waterman and Sidney Burkowitz. All are from New York City. "B" is known as the nerve vitamin, the lack of which causes neuritis. But that it could cure neuritis was unknown. Physicians never had enough of it to try out before.

Recovers Jewel From Robber By Clever Trick

A young woman in Shanghai, China, who refused to be alarmed when a thief snatched a pearl earring valued at $1,000 from her ear recovered the jewel by a ruse—as clever as it was daring. As he started to run away, the woman reached for the other earring and called to him: "Here," she cried. "You might just as well take the other one. I only paid $2.50 for them." The robber, hurrying a stream of inebriate at her and all other women who wore imitation jewelry, tossed the earring he had snatched into the street and left.

Tuberculosis Seals

Receipts Twelve Per Cent. Higher Than In 1933

Receipts from the Christmas seal sale of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association were 12 per cent. higher in 1934 than in 1933. It was reported to an association meeting at Toronto, Saskatchewan, New Brunswick, Montreal and Hamilton had notable increases.

Research awards to junior staff members in Canadian sanatoria and clinics, for 1934, follow: Dr. C. F. Bennett, Fort San, Sask.; Dr. A. R. Boyd, Vancouver.

All Done By Hand

Generally he writes a few chapters, then rewrites them and so on until the book is complete.

Little Journeys In Science

BROMINE

(By Gordon H. Quast, M.A.)

Bromine was discovered about a century ago by the French scientist Ballard. The element occurs in nature as bromides, chiefly as magnesium bromide and sodium bromide, which are found in many springs and salt deposits. The Stansfurt deposits in Germany and the salt waters of Michigan and Ohio are richest in bromides. Sea water also contains small amounts of bromides.

Bromine is prepared commercially by the electrolysis of a solution of a bromide or by treating solutions of bromides with the more active element chlorine.

In recent years the demand for bromine has greatly increased, due to its use in the preparation of a compound called ethylene bromide. This compound is a constituent of ethyl gasoline. An effort is being made at the present time by scientists to obtain additional supplies of bromine from the bromides in sea water. Sea water contains about seventy parts of bromine in a million of water, which means that about 2,000 gallons of the water must be treated to secure a pound of bromine. To recover bromine from sea water, a plant was equipped capable of recovering 100,000 pounds of the element per month. It was reported that the trial trip of this vessel was quite successful, and as a result of this rather large size experiment a plant has been built on the Atlantic coast for the extraction of bromine from the ocean. The success of this venture has suggested the possibility of extracting gold from sea water in a similar way.

Bromine is a dark-red fuming liquid with a very disagreeable odor. Bromine vapor attacks the eyes very painfully and produces great irritation when inhaled. It is about three times as heavy as water and is moderately soluble in water.

Bromides are compounds produced when bromine combines with other elements. Those of potassium and sodium are used in medicine as sedatives and in the preparation of silver bromide, which is used extensively in photography as the sensitive material on the plate. Bromine is also used in the preparation of important dyes. Considerable quantities of bromine are used in the manufacture of tear-gases, or lacrymators.

SYNOPSIS

Nancy Nelson is a sub-deb, a gay, irresponsible girl of nineteen, with no care beyond the choice of her costume for her coming-out party. Suddenly, in the market crash, her indulgent father loses all he had, and his family is faced with the necessity of a simpler method of living. At this juncture a letter is received from an eccentric relative in Colorado, who offers the girl a home on what seems to be impossible conditions.

After much consideration Cousin Columbine's offer is accepted, and Nancy and Jack arrive at Pine Ridge. Now Go On With The Story

"But she had on silk stockings. Jack looked so incongruous with all the rest of her. Well, that'll be something to write home about. I wonder if we ought to go inside. Do you know, I—I feel sort of nervous. I wish whoever's coming for us would come and get it over with."

"Let's stay right here, this air's so marvellous. Do you suppose they often get such days in winter? Watch out, sis!" Jack lowered his voice. "Catch onto the old dame in the fireman's shirt."

Nancy smiled, eyes following her brothers. A white-haired woman had just emerged from the station. She wore a broad-brimmed black felt hat much like a man's, while her long black cape being unfastened, revealed a midly blouse of flaming red. Her feet were clad in stout, black, lace-top shoes, which, in fact, were of cotton stocking made a dark cloth skirt. An eccentric figure, taken as a whole. "And yet," Nancy whispered as she passed them hurriedly, "she has an air about her. See what I mean, Jack?"

"Yeah," he admitted, "but I bet she's a crank of some sort, just the same. You know what they call a—character. You think—"

Jack paused. The eccentric lady had turned and was approaching rapidly. "I'm looking for two young people by the name of Nelson," she said crisply. "Have I found them?"

The question was as unique as the woman; but in that moment her somewhat mannish countenance was lighted by a contagious smile. Jack actually grinned, while Nancy responded quickly: "It looks as if you had! Did Cousin Columbine send you to meet us?"

A quick nod answered her. "I dare say you're hungry as two bears, and so am I. Come in and eat. These Eastern trains always arrive at meal times."

Still talking, she led them toward the station restaurant and motioned to seats at the counter.

"No use in paying a dollar for a dinner when you can get a hot roast beef sandwich for fifty cents. Do you like roast beef? In my opinion there's nothing better. Do you want coffee? They say it's bad for people but I've drunk it every day for

HEALTH MEANS CHARM AND HAPPINESS

Sparkling eyes and smiling lips speak of health and vitality. Clear skin attracts the healthy active girl. Is both happy and popular.

Perhaps you are not really fit yet when the day's work is done you are too tired to enter into the good times that other women enjoy.

Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It tones up your general health. Gives you more pep—more charm.

Remember that 98 out of 100 women report benefit. Let it help you too.

more than fifty years and am still able to get about." She smiled at the waitress, and not giving the young people a chance to answer, ordered: "Roast beef sandwiches, coffee, lemon meringue pie for three, please; and take your time."

Struck dumb by this breezy individual, Jack stifled a smile and gave his sister a disconcerting nudge. Their escort had flung her cape on a nearby hook, and was a noticeable figure in her broad felt hat and scarlet middy. People looked at her, smilingly amused; but there was nobility in her weather-beaten countenance, and her smile was winning.

Lunch was quickly served, and there being no privacy at the counter, was consumed in silence save for a few questions regarding their journey. As the train pulled away from the station, both boy and girl turned to watch it, feeling a subtle, regretful twinge, as if some good friend were deserting them; and as Nancy resumed her meal their companion asked: "Sorry to see the train depart without you."

"I suppose I am," replied the girl, and added at this unexpected insight of her mood: "You see, it makes me feel as if the last bridge behind us was burning. Everything's so different from Massachusetts; and not knowing Cousin Columbine at all I'm silly enough to be a little nervous."

The woman smiled one of her nice smiles.

"You needn't be. I don't think you'll find Columbine Nelson hard to live with."

"Have you known her long?" asked Jack, hoping to secure a bit of light on the character of their unseen relative.

"All my life. She was born at Pine Ridge seventy-odd years ago in a covered wagon."

"I know," said Nancy. "It's one of our family stories, that, and how she happened to be named."

"Is it indeed?" The woman tipped their waitress and glanced up quickly. "Oh, there you are, Mark!"

The lunch room was almost empty now, and as she slipped from the high stool Nancy saw a tall young fellow in a sombrero which he removed as he caught sight of the girl's companion.

Jack stole an amused glance at Nancy—a glance she had no trouble in interpreting. It said as plainly as if he'd spoken: "Enter the forbidden boy friend! Take care, sis!" It was Jack's glance, not the sudden arrival of this unexpected youth which made her color rise, and suddenly, the girl was furious with her brother.

"This is Mark Adam, who is to drive us up," explained the lady. "Mark, these young folks are Nancy and Jack Nelson. Where are your trunk checks, Jack? I presume you've both brought luggage. And where's Matthew, Mark?"

The young man smiled, showing strong, white teeth and a crinkle of humor around the eyes.

"Glad to know you." He stretched out a welcoming hand. "Matt's outside on the truck—too bashful to come in and meet the—er lady. That's it" (as Jack produced the checks). "You'll find the car parked back of the station. I'll be there as soon as I help Matt with the baggage."

"Mark's a good boy," observed their new acquaintance as the driver strode away. "He and his brother came down to the creamery to-day (they run a dairy ranch), so I roped them in to drive us and get your trunks. There isn't a better driver in Pine Ridge than Mark Adam, Nancy, so you've no call to feel nervous going up the pass. Here we are." They had left the station and were crossing a broad parking space. "You're to ride with Mark, Jack. You boys must get acquainted, and I want a chance to get acquainted with your sister."

Jack grinned as he helped them to their places. He longed to ask if their antiquated cousin had given these instructions in order to keep Nancy and "that good-looking" as far apart as possible. Knowing that something of this sort was in his mind, Nancy threw him a warning glance, and said, as she sat down beside the eccentric lady whom she was beginning to like immensely: "It's queer, but I feel acquainted with you already; and do you realize we don't even know your name?"

The lined face brightened humorously.

"The truth is, I never tell my name if I can avoid it. That's the only grudge I've got against my parents. I've always wondered if their brains weren't affected by the altitude when they inflicted such a misnomer on a helpless infant. My name, you nice young things, is Columbine Nelson!" 2103

CHAPTER VI.

If their unconventional relative had set off a bomb and blown the old Ford touring car into a million bits, she wouldn't have created more surprise. Jack paused, one foot on the running board, and stared at her; while Nancy gasped: "But—but you can't be! Why Cousin Columbine's a feeble old lady over seventy!"

"Over seventy, I'll admit," alleged their companion, her eyes twinkling, "but not so feeble as she led you to believe. Stop staring at me, Jack. If it's the midly blouse you'll just have to get used to it. A midly's a life-saver in a place like Pine Ridge where there's no dressmaker. I welcomed them with joy when they came into fashion years ago; and I shall continue to wear them fashion or no fashion, as long as they can be bought by mail. The red ones are for gala occasions like the present. Usually I wear blue. Here comes our driver. Will you kindly testify that my name is Nelson, Mark? These young folks seem to be unbelieving."

Mark Adam laughed as he swung into the driver's seat.

"It is unless she got married when I dropped her at the Court House two hours back," he stated. "I saw that cop give you an admiring glance, Miss Columbine."

"Admiring!" Columbine Nelson sniffed contemptuously. "It's more likely he was thinking: 'There's that old freak come down from Pine Ridge again.' Stop at the Cash and Carry for a box of canned stuff, Mark; and then head for home or Matthew will get there first and not know where to put the luggage."

"Can't Aurora tell him?"

"Jack had turned into a street that faced the mountain, from which Nancy could hardly take her eyes."

"Not Aurora Tubbs," Cousin Columbine was saying. "She's so flustered at the idea of having company that like as not she'd have him put those trunks in the bathroom. We have a bathroom, Nancy, which no doubt you'll be relieved to hear. There's only one other in the village, and that's in a summer cottage belonging to a rich oil man from Oklahoma. I went to the extravagance in 1914, just before the great war started over in Europe. I remember the date because I was christening the tub when the news came, and Aurora (her sister married a German, Otto Weismuller up at Cripple Creek, and as good a fellow as ever lived), came rushing upstairs with the paper. She actually pounded on the door, and shouted: 'Miss Columbine! Miss Columbine! Don't bother with the Germans have started fighting. Do you suppose our Otto will have to go?' Aurora's apt to get flustered in an emergency, but I never saw her so worked up."

This brought a laugh; and Mark said dryly: "I didn't know we'd ever had a christening in Pine Ridge, Miss Columbine. To be that party was interrupted by a war!"

"It wasn't," retorted the old lady. "I called back: 'Keep still, Aurora. This is the first tub bath I've had since my mother washed me in a tin dish pan with only a covered wagon for privacy, and I wouldn't cut it short if the whole German army was on the lawn.' I could tell she was mad by the way she thumped downstairs, but she got over it before I put on my clothes. Here comes Matthew now. Slow down. I'm going to stop him."

She signalled wildly, and a truck drew up beside them, though it seemed to Nancy that both vehicle and the driver did so with reluctance. The latter started to remove his hat, found he had none on, and blushed furiously. The truck emitted a sort of groan.

"If you reach home first, Matthew, just sit and wait till we get there," ordered Miss Columbine. "You can tell Aurora I said to give you a slice of chocolate cake. And this is as good a time as any to make you acquainted with my cousin, Nancy and Jack Nelson. Don't drive recklessly up the pass and lose those trunks over the edge, will you? I dare say they're valuable, and I don't trust your driving as I do Mark's."

"Yes'm," responded Matthew nervously. "Pleased to meet you. I'll be careful, Miss Columbine."

He reached for his hat again, found it still missing, blushed redly, and started the truck with such a jolt that empty milk cans careened drunkenly in the rear. Such confusion amused his brother, and a quiet laugh escaped from Nancy. She said: "He's really bashful, isn't he?"

"Born that way," responded Cousin Columbine.

"And so good looking!" observed Nancy.

They had stopped at a traffic signal, and their driver turned his head a little to say over his shoulder: "The family beauty."

BABY'S OWN SOAP

Enjoyed by five generations of Canadians.

Nancy couldn't restrain a giggle, and Jack laughed outright; but Cousin Columbine remarked severely: "If you expect me, or anybody in Pine Ridge to contradict you, young man, you'll be disappointed. In my day it wasn't considered modest to fish for compliments. The green light's on, boy. Why don't you get along?"

"Too crossed to move," he told her, and proceeded to start the engine as quietly as its age allowed. "I'll park somewhere on a side street, Miss Columbine. There's no space in front of the Cash and Carry; but I'll walk over and get your box. It's only half a block."

Eager to stretch his legs, Jack offered assistance; and as the boys strode off, the old lady remarked critically: "Jack's thin, isn't he? Grown too fast, most likely, and been cooped up in school. A year in the open will do wonders for him."

Nancy thought, with sudden consternation: "A year! Does she expect us to stay that long?" but managed to answer: "That's why Mother let him come. The doctor said he needed outdoor life more than a diploma."

GREAT JOYS

Laughter is for little joys, Childhood's thoughtless mirth, All the bubbling merriment Of this whirling Earth. Words are for the joys that last. But an hour or so, Flitting on so lightly we Know not where they go.

But the great joys; Silence comes Hand in hand with these; Speech could have no part to play In their mysteries; Only, on a sudden, light Dazzling to the eyes, Only, for an instant, wings Soaring through the skies!

Tree Provides Food

Produces Nuts Which Look Like Eggs When Cooked

A rare tree providing food is the property of George Grant, a resident of Somerset Parish, Bermuda. When he is short of eggs to accompany his morning bacon, he goes into his garden and plucks one from a tree. The tree bears a fruit, the size and color of a pomegranate. The fruit bursts open when ripe and "lays" a nut about the size of a hen's egg yolk. Mr. Grant cooks this for five minutes when it turns a beautiful golden yellow. Garnished with white sauce it looks exactly like a hard-boiled egg. Mr. Grant is the only man in the colony with such a tree. It was brought there years ago by his father. It is a native of Africa, where it is called the Akee.

Keep Record Of Graduates

Careers Of Alberta's Commercial Students Followed Up

Business men of Alberta, who seek university graduates for their office or field staffs, will be aided by the University of Alberta. Under the direction of Dr. W. C. Wallace, president, leading firms will be given information about the qualifications of graduates seeking a commercial course in life.

Investigation into careers of the university's school of commerce graduates resulted in reports on 97 of the 127 men and women graduated from the institution since it started in 1923. They are employed in Alberta, Toronto, Vancouver, the United States and one in Honolulu.

Some have taken up teaching; others are engaged in secretarial work; in the Canadian trade commission offices and in general commercial fields. One graduate took up farming.

The survey showed that only seven of the 127 graduates had married since leaving the commercial school.

Vimy Pilgrimage

Lady Haig To Attend The Vimy Memorial Unveiling

That Lady Haig will be present at Canada's unveiling of the War Memorial at Vimy next July was announced to-day by Brigadier General Alex Ross, Dominion president of the Canadian Legion.

"I am so grateful to you for your kind letter which has reached me regarding the Canadian Pilgrimage in 1936," wrote Lady Haig. "It will be a wonderful gathering to unveil that beautiful memorial, and I shall feel much honored that the members of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League have allowed me to accompany them."

Canada's Peace Army, registration to date is now over a thousand and expected to reach twenty times that figure, will attend the unveiling of Canada's War Memorial at Vimy Ridge in July of next year in the presence of representatives of the British and European as well as Canadian and United States governments.

Rewarded With Fortune

Lonely Bachelor Leaves Little Nurse Home And Money

Because she looked after an old bachelor when he was dying, the 15-year-old daughter of a family at Qualicum Beach, B.C., has now a fortune of over $20,000.

For five months Benjamin Muehl had been sick. Every day the girl would go from her home, close by to the small house of the bachelor and look after his needs.

A short time before his death the bachelor told his little nurse that he would leave her his house and two acres of land on which it stood. He never told her of the fortune that was in store. In fact, no one in the district thought that he had any money.

When the old man died and was buried, the will was read. His whole estate, which included the house and grounds and $20,000, was left to his little nurse, who is the oldest of five children.

British Film Stars

Leave Hollywood In Compliance With Immigration Regulations

Foreign born film players have to watch the United States immigration requirements closely. Two of them, Thomas Clark and Gerry Marco, English, have left Hollywood.

Clark, who appeared in "The Barrets of Wimpole Street," and Marco, who played in "Clive of India," declared before they left they were going voluntarily. They had been accused of overstaying their visitors' permits.

A BARBER WHO HAD RHEUMATISM

Tells How He Carried On

A barber who had been "a martyr to rheumatism" writes:—

"I have been a martyr to rheumatism for some ten years. For five years I was so affected that it was with the greatest difficulty I was able to carry on my business. I may say I am a barber by trade. After having tried numerous remedies, I was finally advised to try Kruschen. I am pleased to say that after having used Kruschen for some twelve months, I am now free from aches and pains that I have been for some ten years. In fact I consider I am rid of rheumatism, thanks to Kruschen Salts."—W. M.

Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts are the most effective solvents of uric acid known to medical science. They swiftly draw the sharp edges of the painful crystals, then convert them into a harmless solution. Other ingredients of these Salts have a stimulating effect upon the kidneys, and assist them to expel the dissolved uric acids through the natural channel.

Little Helps For This Week

"He healeth the broken in heart and bindeth up their wounds. He telleth the number of the stars and calleth them all by name. Psalm 147:3-4.

Teach me your mood O patient stars,
Who climb each night the ancient sky,
Leaving on space no shade, no scars,
No trace of age, no fear to die.

Look up to the heavens and the quietness of the stars would seem to reproach you. "We are safe up here," they seem to say, "we shine fearlessly and confidently, for the God who gave the primrose its rough leaves to hide it from the blast of uneven springs hangs us in the awful hollows of space. We cannot fall out of His safety. Lift up your eyes on high and behold; who hath created these things that bringeth out their host by number? He calleth them all by names. By the greatness of His might, for He is strong in power, not one faileth."

Success In Business

Depends Very Largely On How Hard One Works

There is altogether too much nonsense talked about business. The world is full of theorists, men who can tell others how a business should be operated but who have never been able to make a success of one themselves. To conduct a business successfully three things are essential; money, ability, and a tremendous capacity for hard and strenuous work. It is the last of the three which contributes the greatest part to the success of a business, but it is a wise combination of the three which provides work for hundreds of thousands of men and women all over Canada.

By living through the hazards of their first year, the Dionne quintuplets overcame risks equivalent to those one woman would encounter in 51 years of life Metropolitan Life Insurance Company statisticians computed.

GOV'T PLAN IN DRY BELT EXPLAINED

Soil Drifting Chief Menace To Farmers, Medicine Hat Told

MEDICINE HAT, May 31.—L. B. Thomson, Western Canada chairman of the Federal drouth commission, and head of the Dominion governments experimental range station at Manyberries, briefly outlined the plan of the Federal government to rehabilitate the drouth areas of Alberta, Manitoba and Saskatchewan to the members of the Medicine Hat Chamber of Commerce, Thursday noon.

The Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act, explained Mr. Thomson, was an act passed by the Federal government prior to the Easter adjournment, but as yet the different committees have been able to do nothing other than to investigate the feasibility of projects whereby the farmers of the drouth areas in the three prairie provinces might be assisted in their struggles against the stern hand of Mother Nature.

Soil drifting has so aggravated the deplorable conditions in some sections of the wheat growing districts that millions of dollars are being lost and the poor farmers, even if they did have heart to "try again," would be unable to do so, as they lacked the necessary money with which to buy the seed and machinery.

These farmers, said Mr. Thomson, would be provided with funds in future, while the respective committees were studying the demoralizing phases of the condition and endeavoring to better them. The act created by parliament granted that $750,000 be spent this year, and $1,000,000 for each of the next four years.

Some of the ablest men in Western Canada will be technical advisers, and farmers right off the land will be working hand in hand with these experts. Large areas township lots will be selected for experimental uses, and every possible measure will be tried if it is deemed practical.

Tree Planting

A tree-planting commission will also be investigating the old story that "where there are trees there is rain." It is not the intention of this branch to cover the farmer's land with trees, but to plant numerous trees about the houses and buildings to determine what effect they will have on the condition.

Vacated farm lands, nesting grounds for troublesome weeds would be re-seeded with grass and a water development commission would analyze all schemes and present them to the Dominion government.

The grand experiment has a definite relation to the feed production program for Western Canada, and will assist in doing away with food shortages. Conservation of flood waters would be a boon to stock growers, and every available opportunity to do so would be included in the program. Mr. Thomson concluded by saying that the success of the scheme depended entirely on the co-operation given by those who are not only affected but interested in a project which would have a beneficial result to everyone.

Here and There

Two or three times as much rainfall this year between April 1 and May 8 on the Prairies as compared with the same period last year makes the outlook for the 1936 harvest similar to that at the same time of year in 1932 when the largest crop since 1928 was recorded, states T. S. Achison, general agricultural agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway in the West.

Leonard J. Pohlmann, traveling passenger agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, with headquarters at New York, was recently elected vice-president of the American Association of Traveling Passenger Agents of New York. Mr. Pohlmann has been a member of the association's executive committee for the past year.

Hotel Saskatchewan, Regina, distinguished itself recently by staging a Chinese Mandarin dinner dance, said to be the first of its kind on this continent. As stage decoration there was used a hundred-foot runner and side drapes, hand-made by Chinese many decades ago, and insured while in use at a valuation of $8,000. The orchestra was in Chinese dress and provided music with a decidedly Eastern background.

T. J. Jackson, who has just been appointed first assistant manager of the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, in succession to Cyril Chapman, promoted to the post of manager of the Seignior Club of Quebec, started as cashier at the Chateau Frontenac in 1924, and has had rapid advancement to his present high position.

To Charles Montgomery, one-time switch-tender and at present elevator operator at the Canadian Pacific uptown office building in Winnipeg, go all honors for having constructed what is probably the most perfectly finished model of a locomotive on the continent. It is a five-foot replica of a Canadian Pacific class "2100," finished in brass and copper, and took five years to construct.

Out of active service for some years past, Canadian Pacific liner Melita has been sold to Italian shipbreakers. She was built in Glasgow in 1918.

"Never betray a trust; be honest; do what other men can do; and work your eight hours a day," is the recipe for success enunciated by Caleb R. Smith, international chairman of the Million-Dollar Round Table, speaking to the Life Underwriters in convention at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, recently.

James G. Millar, Medicine Hat, veteran Canadian Pacific engineer, recently celebrated his 82nd birthday, when railway acquaintances and relatives gathered to congratulate him. He was born in Drummondville, Que., and has been drawing a railroad cheque for more than 64 years.

A couple of score of the old railroaders who five decades ago helped push the steel around the north shore of Lake Superior for the Canadian Pacific Railway, gathered near Juchish, Ont., recently, to re-enact the driving of the last spike at Noso on May 16, 1885. Alex. Anderson, Port Arthur, who held the spike when it was driven fifty years ago, drove home a new elided spike with a vigor that belied his 81 years.
